Facial Concepts
1055 W Germantown Pike
Norristown, PA 19403

On May 5, 2004 I came to the Facial Concepts offices and photographed five woman who were about to embark on using the Facial Concepts product for the first time. After twelve weeks of the woman using the product I came back on September 8, 2004 to photograph them again the exact same way.

The camera used was a Hasselblad H101. Shot at 125 of a second at an aperture of F 8. The strobe lighting used was a combination of Comets & Pro Foto lights. These were located one above the subject in a soft box and two on a white background. A white fill card was used under the subject's face for filling in any shadows. On both shoot dates the lighting stayed the same.
